-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either of the '704 or '792 UK patents from the IDS in view of either Chevalier et al or Jacobs.

Each of the UK patents disclose applicant's basic inventive concept, a microtome with an associated cryostat and a light source, substantially as claimed with the exception of using modular LED assemblies which may be dimmed as the light source. Chevalier et al and Jacobs each show this feature to be old in the illumination art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention from the teaching of either Chevalier et al or Jacobs to modify the microtome of either of the UK patents by using dimmable LED modules for the light source to provide highly controllable, efficient light that also produces less heat.

Claims 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the '704 or '792 UK patent in view of either Chevalier et al or Jacobs as applied to claims 1-8 above, and further in view of either Choi et al or Kanao et al.

Either of the UK patents, as modified, discloses applicant's basic inventive concept, a microtome with a cryostat and a dimmable LED light source, substantially as claimed with the exception of providing a switch controllable with the opening and closing of the cover and shielding the LEDs. Choi et al and Kanao et al each show these features to be old in the illumination art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention from the teaching of either Choi et al or Kanao et al to modify the microtome of either UK patent by controlling the LEDs with the opening or closing of the cover, to ensure that light is provided when it is needed, while not wasting energy, and to provide a shield to protect the LEDs from damage.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Palermo shows a microtome with UV light disinfecting means. Heid et al and Biehl show microtomes with coolers and illumination.
